Privat House Trümmlen – Rüti

Texture and colour accents from Création Baumann textiles in a renovated 1950s house.

Starting Point

A total renovation of a 1950s house that has been enhanced with interior design upgrades. The house with an exposed concrete façade has large windows and no external shading in some areas.

Solution

The internal textiles provide privacy and glare protection. This significantly improves the acoustics in the open space. The BARAM curtain was used in the interior. Its irregular texture is reminiscent of fabrics and the aesthetics of the 1950s.

The outdoor patio on the ground floor is complemented by an outdoor curtain that provides protection from the wind and creates a comfortable area outdoors. A dark grey shade of the OUTDOOR CUBA outdoor fabric was chosen to match the concrete façade and add a touch of colour.
